DESCRIPTION: This productive farm lies at the northedge of the Platte River Valley, and borders Pathfinder Canal on the south. The farm is gravity irrigated, and sits in an inverted "L" with the north farm sitting atop to south farm. Each of the farms could accommodate a half circle pivot system, or a single system to make  $\frac{3}{4}$  of a revolution could be placed at the northwest corner of the south farm. There are good concrete ditches in place, and soils are almost 90% Class I & II according to the County Assessor. No sugar beets have been grown for 20 years. The property's location only a mile off of Highway #71 would make it convenient to markets and services.
